

SUCCESS RESTS ON A STRONG FOUNDATION

South Bay businesses are creating new jobs at nearly twice the rate as the rest of the country. With new retail and mixed-use projects underway in San Jose, Palo Alto and Cupertino, South Bay Construction is building a solid foundation for growth now and well into the future.

- Seven wood-frame and three masonry buildings are attracting new retail tenants — including Target, Marshalls and Petco — to Village Oaks (5656 and 5732 Cottle Road) in San Jose.
- Park Plaza (195 Page Mill Road) in Palo Alto will add 48,000 square feet space for new businesses, two levels of residential apartments, plus an underground garage.
- A new Safeway plus three office buildings will soon bring a variety of new retail tenants to the intersection of Homestead Road and De Anza Boulevard in Cupertino.

We've been supporting the success of South Bay's residents and entrepreneurs from the ground up since 1975. From our vantage point, the future looks very bright.
